HOME-BASED INCOME GENERATION PROJECT

DAMNOK TOEK POIPET
Damnok Toek Poipet is an organization working with vulnerable children and their families. Poipet is located in the North-West of Cambodia and is the main border crossing to Thailand. Because of this it attracts people from all over Cambodia wanting to make a living. However, in reality economic opportunities are scarce and many families end up living in poverty.

Since 1999 Damnok Toek works with children living and/or working on the street, children who are victims of trafficking or unsafe migration, substance abusing children and other neglected and vulnerable children in the communities. Damnok Toek offers full-time services including shelter, education, health care, outreach and vocational training. Damnok Toek’s goal is to take care of the children, stabilize them and finally reintegrate them into their families.

HOME-BASED INCOME GENERATION PROJECT

Why a Home-Based Income Generation Project?
As many families face a difficult economic situation, small inputs can help them to be more stable and to prevent children from suffering neglect or abuse and have access to education. Therefore, as part of reintegration support from Damnok Toek, the Home-Based Income Generation Project was started in 2009 to help the most vulnerable children’s families generate income to ensure a safe and sustainable reintegration of the child.

Beneficiaries
The beneficiaries of this project are mothers coming from very vulnerable economic situations. By being able to work from home, it allows them to have a safe economic environment. The selected families sign a contract in which they are committed not only to produce the products but also to send their children to school, to take care of them and to prevent them from working in the streets.

Process
Beneficiaries follow ongoing training in which they learn how to produce the items you find in this catalogue. They are supported with material and are followed up by the Home-Based Project staff in order to check the production. At the same time they are followed up by social workers to monitor the families’ situation.

Results
The Home-Based Income Generation Project has a positive impact on the wellbeing of the children involved. Since the beginning of the project 56 children:
• Stopped working or begging in the streets and are protected from the dangers of the streets
• Are now going to public school or Damnok Toek’s Non-Formal Education program
• Are now protected from being (re-)trafficked to Thailand
• Have their basic needs fulfilled (food, health, clothes)

By buying the products from the project, you directly support families most in need and contribute to children’s safe living condition and education. Thank you for your support.

GOALS OF THE HOME-BASED PROJECT

• Reduce child labour, child trafficking and exploitation
• Reduce unsafe migration
• Create opportunities for vulnerable families to generate regular income and sustainable employment
• Facilitate the reintegration of the children
• Increase the access of community children to education
• Develop business skills for vulnerable families and support them in maintaining a stable financial situation
• Create opportunities for vulnerable Khmer families to come back to their homeland with an economical perspective
• Encourage families to send their children to school and prevent them from staying in the streets
